AINET International Teacher Research Conference

Nagpur 14-15 September 2017

We proudly announce the first ever Teacher Research Conference in India being organised by AINET in collaboration with G. S. College of Commerce & Economics, Nagpur. We invite teacher researchers from schools, colleges and other institutions to share their studies and participate in an international exchange of ideas, experiences and developments in teacher research in ELT. Or you may attend as a delegate to know more about Teacher Research and join the fast growing global community of teacher researchers.

About AINET

AINET is an all-India community of teachers of English and is affiliated to the International Association IATEFL, UK. AINET organizes conferences, workshops, training programmes and professional development activities all over India and also collaborates with universities and institutions in organising similar events. AINET is committed to promoting English teachers' professional development, thereby supporting quality improvement and enrichment of the teaching and learning of English in India.

About GSCCEN

G. S. College of Commerce & Economics, Nagpur was established in 1945 as the first commerce college in Nagpur and second in Nagpur University. A renowned and premier commerce college in the region, GSCCEN has been recently reaccredited with 'A' grade by NAAC. It is managed by the noted Gandhian trust Shiksha Mandal, Wardha and maintains high academic standards, qualitative growth and ethical practices under the dynamic leadership of India's leading industrialist Shri Rahul Bajaj, the President of Shiksha Mandal, and its Chairman Shri Sanjay Bhargava. The college offers wide range of courses in commerce, management, vocational studies and skills development.

Teacher Research

The conference theme is Teacher Research, which we define as "research initiated and carried out by teachers themselves into issues of importance to them in their own work". Teacher Research is typically classroom or school based, short term and does not lead to a formal qualification. Teachers engage in teacher research to enhance their own understanding and to address their specific practical concerns.

International Festival of Teacher Research in ELT, 2017

This is an initiative of several TR groups to promote and popularize TR as a valid, significant strand of research and to build a community of teacher researchers. It started with an online global course (TESOL EVO January-February) and continues through a series of events in the UK (IATEFL Glasgow, April), Argentina (May), Turkey (June), Brazil (July), Cameroon (August), and finally India (this Conference).
